28 March 2007      Presidential Address

Free event – no charge

Sponsored by Royal Bank of Scotland

Lord Stewart Sutherland

Chair: Sir Stephen Lamport

“Is an enlightened society still possible? Hume and the rise of fundamentalist religion”

Lord Sutherland will discuss what was so radical about Hume’s views about ethics and how that affected his view of society and religion. The broader context will be the importance of the enlightenment at a time when it is under attack from various sources.

3 May 2007

£12

Peter Freeman, Chair of the Competition Commission

Chair: John Schmidt, Shepherd and Wedderburn

Sponsored by Shepherd and Wedderburn

“A wise man proportions his belief to the evidence- Scepticism and Competition Policy”

This talk will outline how the Competition Commission contributes to UK competition law and policy. Peter Freeman will discuss the general approach to tackling competition problems, with much reference to Scottish cases and issues, which will include non-merger aspects.
